Alisha Kelley

Hello, My name is Alisha Kelley I am 28 years old from Covington, Indiana, I was born in Danville, Ill. Growing up I had to be the center of attention, jumping in every photo possible. When I was eight years old my grandmother put me in my first photo shoot, that was the day I knew I wanted to be a model. But as the years passed and high school, friends and sports came along I drifted away and pursued them. My grandfather who is no longer with me would tell me I should model, or you look just like a model on a daily basis, I would laugh it off and continue on with my life which gave me two handsome boys, it wasn't until after he passed that I realized I was missing not just him in my life but something else. It was modeling again. I came across Don Jones who showed me exactly what my grandpa had been telling me all these years. The beauty he brings out in my pictures is beyond me and I am very thankful for finding him. I know my grandpa is smiling down on me today. I wanna pursue my modeling career and make it into magazines and hopefully much more and the help from Don Jones I know my goals and dreams will be accomplished

*Connie
Stevenson*

Connie is an Alberta born and careered woman, standing 6ft without heels. She is always on the go whether it be modelling part time or twisting snap on wrenches at her fulltime job as a journeyman heavy duty mechanic.

She is currently working on her first build, a rat rod with a co-mechanic. Talking about things that make her wild are old muscle cars, and trucks with lots of horsepower.

That mechanic happens to be a friend turned more when things got heated up in the garage, on the rat rod - talking about a Dom and Letty scene from Fast and Furious, you know the one where Dom grabs Letty's ass and pulls her up close and onto his Charger.....

This girl loves anything with pistons. From mountain sledding, to quading, race cars, trucks and all the burnouts and events one can handle at a race track.

Connie aspires to keep doing what she's doing and more.

Her goals are constantly being met and sharing her art with fans is just another satisfying feeling of motivation.

I am a 21-year-old model, I got into modeling because I wanted to try something different in my life and meet new and interesting people, I started modeling just last June 2015. My hobbies include the gym, reading, modeling and playing with dogs. I love cats and top 40 and County music. I am from a small town, where doing this sort of self expression is considered taboo. But its my body and I will show it however I want. This makes me feel sexy and boosts my self esteem. I am a Alberta girl born and breed.

Currently no romantic interests in my life. I don't mind being single, I love being independent. One of my dreams is to have my own acreage where I can have my own little hobby farm. Nothing to fancy.... a couple horses, maybe some chickens and a rooster and of course a ever faithful dog.

Hello, my name is Jean Dara. I am from the Philippines. I started modeling much later than others. Modeling gives me an opportunity to travel and meet very creative minds and talent. Most of the people in my circle are from this industry. I enjoy every bit of the experience and I've learned so much along the way. I have modeled for about 5 years. I still do but I've been very selective of my modeling assignments. Lately I've been focusing more on clothing design.

Even before I started modeling I found myself spending lots of time looking through boutique windows admiring cutting edge designs by famous designers. I knew then that my calling was in designing clothes. My main inspiration are designers Jeremy Scott and Balmain. I've always liked to wear rompers and jumpsuits to make me look taller. I like designing clothing that are trendy, fashionable, yet wearable.

I don't have and formal training on design but I've always been passionate about the art of styling and design. As a model, I do my own styling and pick out my own clothes whenever I have that opportunity. Every summer I attend seminars and workshops on design to enhance my skills and knowledge.

A career in fashion design is not for the faint of heart. Morally and emotionally, my family is very supportive of my career both as a model and as a designer. I think it is very important to have that in anyone's career path. It's very important to stay focused. Budget is always an issue so for starters I take a lot of mental notes on what I see online and on boutiques. Most of my inspirations come from what I see from flea markets and neighborhood sales. Reinventing and salvaging failed design is very fulfilling.

So what is my typical day like? I wake up, have a cup of tea, make my own Filipino breakfast, and then surf instagram. I wait for a text or PM from a friend and the content of that message is usually what dictates my day.

Everyone's got a dream and I have one too. For now, I'd be happy to have a collection featured in any fashion week. I'd love to have a traveling collection going to most major cities in Asia: Hong Kong, Singapore, Bangkok, Seoul, etc. And, of course every designer's dream: Paris, London, NY, and LA. Someone asked me before: What is the message behind your clothes? Two messages come to mind... "Life is too short to blend in" and "You don't have to be rich and famous to look like one"
