I have always loved art, animals, and sports. My dream is to someday be a fashion model and walk the catwalk in New York City Fashion Week. I also love to help at the local animal shelter, and I make all the cats and dogs at the pound their own dog toy, so they aren't so lonely. I also have a passion for sewing and hope to someday be a fashion designer.

My dream is to own my business, become a NFL player, go to ice box (the jewelry store) and take care of my family. My goals are to keep A's and B's all through middle school, high school and college, get better and train harder in football. One of my greatest achievements was helping my friend bring his math grade up from a d to an b. Also getting my championship rings in my football tournaments. Some of my challenges are with certain school subjects but I know that if I keep working hard I will continue to overcome those challenges!

My dream is to do what I love for the rest of my life! I love mentoring, teaching, and coaching kids. Helping them get from point A to point B is what I live for! I love hip hop and being able to combine the two is a dream come true. Being able to see them grow and become confident, capable people and dancers is the ultimate gratification!

My goal is to be recognized nationally as a coach, teacher, and choreographer. I train very hard to make my goal happen but I'm also enjoying the road to get there. I would also love to see my student's dreams come true whatever it is! Having them come back and say thanks for helping me reach my goal would be amazing!

A challenge that I face is getting older; I struggle with pacing and knowing that words can replace action. I often teach 5 hours in a row and wake up to a sore body having to do it again. No complaints because I'm doing what I love; I just have to pace myself so I can prolong my dance career! On the bright side, I am getting better at explaining to my students. Another challenge is finding that balance between having fun and being competitive. I started to dance because it was fun and it provided me an outlet to express myself; this is what I want to teach my students! The competitive side naturally comes out because we are athletes but being able to have fun while being competitive will lead to success!

Scarlett
Bella Song

Scarlett Bella Song is a multi-ethnic teen model, fashionista, tastemaker, and performer. In addition to the performing arts and modeling, Scarlett enjoys scouting for new brands/products to introduce to her friends and social media followers.

As a trendsetter, Scarlett is a brand ambassador for a variety of fashion and beauty companies that closely align with her aesthetic and values. Scarlett exclusively partners with designers/innovators/artists/brands that enhance humanity, spread kindness, and build community.

Once COVID -19 descended upon us, it ultimately became a pivotal year for self-reflection. After careful consideration, Scarlett honed in on the optimal next steps in her personal journey: becoming an entrepreneur and creating her own product lines. To start, Scarlett is collaborating on an original jewelry line with an established company that produces wholesome jewelry designs geared towards kids, teens, and adults.

Having visited over 15 countries and lived in several States across the U. S., Scarlett has a distinct fashion point-of-view and looks forward to sharing her style/vision with the modeling/fashion industry.

My dream is to one day perform on stage in a musical where I can show my love and passion for dance. I have also watched many dance programmes on the tele such as the next step and something like this would be amazing to be a part of.

I take part in dance competitions along with my dance school each year and have been awarded so many medals and trophies. My dance genres include Ballet Tap Lyrical Modern Acro Greek Choreographics Classical Cabaret Street and character. My favourite trophy was Happiest Dancer. I'm so happy up on stage and it's where I feel I belong.

I love to dance, I can dance through my emotions but not everything comes easy. I work hard all the time at everything I want to achieve and keep at it so I can perfect my dancing.
